Celebrating Music in Our Schools

Dr. Andrew Pulver
Superintendent

It's no secret that Los Alamitos Unified is passionate about bringing our schools and community together to showcase the incredible talents of our students. As a school district, we host many different events throughout the year that celebrate athletics, academics, activities and the arts. However, due to restrictions from the pandemic, many had to be postponed or held virtually. It is with great joy that we were able to welcome back — in-person — our All-District Choral Festival.

Held this year at the Track and Field Complex at Los Alamitos High School, the annual event brings choirs from every Los Alamitos Unified school together for one night a year to share the same stage and the gift of music with our community. The festival's history dates back over 38 years ago when elementary music teachers began the celebration of music in our schools and brought the music community together to highlight the talents of our students.

Featuring performances from choir students in fourth through twelfth grade, this year's program began with a beautiful rendition of "Gaudeamus Hodie" (Let us Rejoice Today) sung by our elementary and middle school choirs. Choirs from Oak and McAuliffe Middle Schools took the stage and dazzled guests by singing classic songs like "American Pie," "Johnny B. Goode," and "Walking on Sunshine." And last but certainly not least, our award-winning Los Alamitos High School Show Choirs — Connexion, Axcent, Xtreme, Xquisite, Soundtrax and Sound FX — proved to attendees why they've been named Grand Champions over 175 times, including 10 National Grand Championship titles. The evening concluded with all choirs coming together to perform one final performance of the song "Put a Little Love in Your Heart."

Combined elementary, middle and high school boys choirs, grades 4 through 12, perform together at the All-District Choral Festival

We are so fortunate to have a music department faculty made up of diverse educational backgrounds, repertoires, and talents who lead students to their highest level of potential. We are equally as fortunate to have a supportive community made up of our Board of Education, parents and guardians that continue to motivate and support our students as well as volunteer so much of their personal time to champion our choral programs.

Could Your Child Need Ear Tubes?

Nina Yoshpe, M.D.,
medical director,
pediatric
otolaryngology,
MemorialCare
Miller Children's &
Women's Hospital
Long Beach

Ear infections are common for children 6-months-old to 8-years-old and may be the result of a bad "cold" that has progressed, family genetics, or poor ventilation in the ear.

For children who have chronic ear infections, tend to retain fluid in the middle ear, or have chronic fluid build-up in the middle ear – "ear tubes" may be recommended. Ear tubes are small cylinders that are surgically implanted that allow air to flow in and out of the middle ear, which prevents the development of negative pressure, as well as fluid-build up.

Ear tube surgery, or tympanostomy tube insertion surgery, is the most common childhood surgery in the U.S. It's important to have this type of surgery performed by pediatric otolaryngologists at children's hospitals, like MemorialCare Miller Children's & Women's Hospital Long Beach, who receive extended training in order to make the decision to operate on growing and developing bodies.

But not every child with an ear infection is recommended ear tube placement. So how do you know when to ask your doctor about ear tubes?

- Your child has three or more ear infections within six months, and retains fluid in their ear between infections.
- Your child has suffered hearing loss caused by persistent build-up of fluid in the middle ear.
- Your child has a collapsed ear drum, which can erode the bones in the ear.

Speak to your pediatrician if your child is experiencing chronic ear infections to prevent potential hearing loss in your child.

Our physicians train longer so Erin's recovery is quicker.

With quality care close by, Erin has access to elite pediatric specialists. Pediatric physicians must go through additional schooling and more rigorous training than a typical doctor. This means Erin receives individualized treatment designed just for her growing body. Every child is unique, and so is their health, which is why we recruit and retain only the best pediatric specialists. Erin sees each member of her care team during one appointment and it's the same familiar care team she had at diagnosis.

Access to elite care. When you need it.

College and Career Preparatory Academy

Dr. Al Mijares
Superintendent

Where can young adults turn if they've aged out of the public school system without a high school diploma?

OCDE's College and Career Preparatory Academy offers a path to move forward.

Established in 2015, CCPA is a first of its kind in Orange County. It's a free public charter school that offers a blend of online courses, independent study and small-group instruction specifically for students ages 18 to 25 who have yet to complete their high school graduation requirements.

Many of these students have already entered the workforce, and some have children at home. For most, flexibility is crucial.

Students who enroll at CCPA have the opportunity to create customized schedules while taking advantage of a variety of supports including counselor sessions, remote learning, tutoring and peer activities.

"At CCPA, we want students to succeed and move forward with the next steps in their life, whether that is college, a career or a training program," Principal Dave Connor said. "This program was developed to help students who've lost their way, and we couldn't be more proud of the nearly 750 students who've graduated from the academy."

Many of CCPA's incoming students are behind in credits and performed below grade-level at their last school. Yet nearly half of the academy's graduates go on to attend community college or enroll in a career technical education training program.

In fact, CCPA builds relationships with community colleges, community-based organizations and potential employers to provide students with a robust network of support. One example is a partnership with the California Jobs Challenge. Sponsored by the National Guard, the program provides career technical education training and career readiness skills, which are keys to meaningful employment.

Of course, it's one thing to talk about how CCPA fills a niche in Orange County. But it's another to attend the academy's heartwarming graduation ceremonies. These moments reveal the true impact on students and families who have taken diverse educational journeys, only to discover fresh starts and bright futures.

Young adults seeking to earn their high school diplomas can enroll at CCPA year-round. For information or to register, visit freeccpa.com or call 714-796-8795.

Huskies love STEAM!

The world is constantly evolving, at Hopkinson, we are preparing our Huskies to succeed in our ever changing world! The infusion of collaboration, communication, creativity, and critical thinking skills arm our students for success in a rapidly changing global society. We continuously seek out experiences to support the rigorous instruction in our classrooms. On Friday March 25th, Los Alamitos High School's Growing Up STEM hosted a Hands-On Science night for our kids TK through 5th Grade. Our Huskies had a blast diving into hands on science projects. Over 150 Huskies joined in on the fun.

This event inspires kids to engage in STEM and recognize how fun and cool science can be. It is beautiful to see Husky Alums coming back to teach their younger peers. Providing hands-on, inquiry- based learning experiences that incorporate science process skills and the scientific method fosters the love of science and learning for our Huskies.

Running Start for Reading

Our first grade reading challenge called Running Start is off to a great start! All first graders participate in our motivating, reading competition to earn "PAWS" and to celebrate reading. Students work towards a goal of reading 75 books, though many Leos far surpass this goal! Students are awarded PAWS for every completed book. PAWS are proudly displayed on our classroom windows to remind our school that our first graders are SUPER READERS. Student celebrations occur every day as classes add up their daily PAW counts. Our first graders encourage one another and root for each other as their PAW counts grow. After one month, the grade level holds a celebration to recognize our Leos' perseverance, reading growth, and increased love of reading. Congratulations to our SUPER READERS!

Big Orange Box Surprise

LAE has just finished our annual Reading Challenge. While we did not have this fundraiser last year, this year the students welcomed back B.O.B. (Big Orange Box) and did a fantastic job. The students learned about the importance of reading and focused on reading for the entire month. Over half of our TIGERS completed Bingo Cards that had different reading challenges. Not only did students focus on reading success, they also donated invaluable funds to move LAE forward. Our TIGERS raised over $29,000. To celebrate beating our goal of $20,000, we opened B.O.B. and had a special surprise from the Wizard of Oz! Minus prizes, all funds will be used at LAE to buy new playground equipment, PE equipment, and to run our Reading Intervention Lab until the end of May. We are very thankful that our community focused on reading and raised the needed funds to help us impact COVID related learning loss. LAE is The Place to Be!

Student Life is Back!

After months of reinventing campus activities, Griffin students were treated to a couple of blasts from the past in the form of Winter Formal and Griffin Games. The two ASB-organized events provided students the opportunity for some much-deserved fun. Winter Formal cascaded the outdoor gardens at the Los Angeles Natural History Museum that featured Karaoke, neon-lighted ping pong and air hockey, and an epic dance floor where music reverberated off the whale skeleton above. Griffin Games, a week-long friendly competition highlighted by dress-up days and daily contests where students would earn points for their respective teams, culminating in a fun-filled field day. Students ran through inflatable obstacle courses, safely jousted classmates American Gladiator style, and played dodge ball, all with live music from a DJ. The events took months to plan but were worth every effort to see students smiling and interacting again.

4th Annual Film Festival!

Dr. Ryan Weiss-Wright
Principal

One of our new(er) traditions at McAuliffe is the annual film festival, showcasing original student films from students at all grade levels. This year, McAuliffe debuted over 50 submissions, from over 150 students creating films that fit the theme: Tell Me a Story. Films ranged from comedy to drama, stop motion to live acting, and lots of animation! It is always exciting to see what our students have created!

Traditions

At McGaugh Elementary School, we love our traditions! And our educational community couldn't be more excited and proud to have continued possibly the longest-running tradition in Los Alamitos Unified School District, McGaugh's Pageant of the Arts! Last year, due to the pandemic, the Pageant had a one-year hiatus. This year's 39th Pageant ran from April 1, 2022 to April 2, 2022, and this featured Howard University graduate and American artist Lois Mailou Jones. The Pageant of the Arts was a true work of art. Under the direction of the incompatible Mrs. Leslie Obert (3rd Grade Teacher) Pageant, it was supported by teachers and staff and current and past pageant performers. Our students and staff worked hard all year all, painting, drawing, singing, and dancing. The value of Arts and traditions brought this incredible production to life!

Digital Art at Oak Middle School

We are excited to announce that Oak Middle School visual art has now added a digital component to the array of art techniques taught throughout the year. Thanks to a generous grant, our Advanced Art students, under the direction of Mrs. Harbour, now have access to ipads and ipencils that allows us to teach a familiar subject in a new way. The use of technology in art allows students a special opportunity to engage in visual art with the touch of a screen. With the use of Procreate software, students utilize ipencils to practice depth, perspective, balance, composition and so much more. While we still make traditional art our priority, the added instruction of digital techniques is a great enhancer to our already robust program. We have found that digital art helps to build confidence. We are grateful to our amazing art instructor and this new resource.

Our Knights Explore Sacramento

Each year our Knights in the fourth grade look forward to attending our school's annual Sacramento field trip. Unfortunately, due to the pandemic, we were not able to attend last year. This year we worked hard to fund raise so that all of our fourth- and fifth-grade Knights would have the opportunity to attend this incredible field trip during the month of March.

As we eagerly exited the plane and climbed into the bus, our trip leaders explained the many facets of California history as the students traveled back in time. We started our trip visiting the California State Capitol before heading over to the California State Railroad Museum, where students discovered the impact that the Transcontinental Railroad had on California and the nation. Our Knights also visited Marshall Park, where the first gold was discovered in California.

The group was eager to pan for gold on the America River, and they even received a vial and a pouch to store the gems they found. One of the highlights was visiting a mountain man, Tall Steve, who described the life of trappers and guides during the Gold Rush. The students passed around the skins from animals that were part of a trapper's life, and also learned about the tools they used. An all-time favorite each year is when Tall Steve teaches the children how to throw a hatchet, and how he loads and shoots a musket rifle!

Overall, the trip was a great success for our Knights! Many parents attended as chaperones, and we were all so thankful that our Knights were able to experience the trip in person this year. It is one thing to learn about history in your classroom, but it becomes especially magical when what you learn comes to life, and you get to walk in the footsteps of the most important figures in California History!

Congratulations
Nina Huh

One of the goals for our students at Weaver is to be willing to put themselves out there and take a risk. We encourage our students to develop the poise and confidence in their talents and their passions. Sometimes, that can mean creating a piece of art for a show or submitting a poem or an essay for a contest.

We are so proud that one of our fifth grade students, Nina Huh, was recently honored for her haiku submission in the 18th Annual National Haiku Program competition for fifth and sixth grade students. Out of over 1200 submissions, Nina's was given first place with a $100 cash prize! Here is her haiku:

ashes in the breeze/
flames beneath the darkened night/
light collides with dark

Congratulations, Nina, for not only representing Weaver so beautifully but for demonstrating the courage and fortitude to accept a challenge and believe in yourself! You are a shining example of that #WeAreWeaver spirit!

Activities Away from Technology

Q. My 10-year-old son only wants to stay indoors, play video games and eat chips and the like. He doesn't like sports. I'm trying to get him outdoors and moving but he complains about the heat. Any ideas on how to get him away from becoming a couch potato and away from the TV?

A. There are plenty of programs that your son might like such as swimming, drawing, painting, camping, making pottery, volunteering at a pet shelter, cooking, graphic design for kids, etc. The whole idea is to get him into a scheduled activity three to five days a week. Some of the facilities where the activities take place have lunch served to the kids. It's usually a pretty healthy one at that. They should give you a weekly copy of them. If not, ask for one. Some programs allow kids to bring their lunch. This means that he will be eating less of the bad things and more of the good. He might even decide that eating fruit is a good break from chips. If your son can find something he likes and can participate in it with a friend, he'll be more willing to stick with it, especially if there's no pressure to be a super star. This will also give him less time to play video games or to watch TV.

Positive Parenting

Sandy Spurgeon McDaniel

Are You Disconnected?

This is one of the most difficult times there has ever been to be a parent. The extreme use of media and extended challenges of the pandemic have changed our children; thus, the way they need to be parented. And some needs of children never change.

All children need to feel connected. Can you see the difference between, "You're a good friend!" And "I really needed someone to talk to last night, thanks for being there." Instead of talking at children, talk to them; look into their eyes, be with them and listen. Since children often require constant attention, it is totally appropriate to say, "I want to hear what you have to say, and (cooking) needs my full attention right now. I'm turning the timer for 15 minutes. When you hear it ring, come and I will listen!"

Read to your children every night. Eat dinner together as a family. Play games together. Go on outings together. Don't talk on your cell phone in the car, talk to them. This precious time of being the architect of a child's life is very short. There are no re-runs in the parenting game; connect with your children so they feel valued and appreciated.

Sandy Spurgeon McDaniel is an author, taught school, raised two children, worked as a consultant to schools and has worked with children and families for 52 years. Sandy now lives in Meridian, Idaho. ParentingSOS.com.
